Sandgate VP Linux User Agreement

The final user of Sandgate VP Linux (hereinafter referred to as “user”) does hereby conclude this agreement with Sophia Systems Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as “Sophia Systems”) to observe the following usage conditions.

Article 1 (Definitions)

“Sandgate VP Linux” is the general name for “Sandgate VP Linux” that is supplied by Sophia Systems and includes the contents contained therein including but not limited to redboot, kernel, filesystem, toolchains, WiFi driver (binary), object code, structure, configuration, related materials, and accessory items.

Article 2 (Right of Use and Copyrights)

1. The Sandgate VP Linux right of use is a non-transferable and exclusive right within Japan.
2. The copyright and other intellectual property rights for Sandgate VP Linux are ascribed to Sophia Systems except for products provided by a third party.
3. The user cannot reproduce, transfer, sell, or loan Sandgate VP Linux and right of use to a third party or ascribe or provide as collateral the right of use.

Article 3 (Changes and Modifications)

The user may modify Sandgate VP Linux for a usage purpose within the scope of the right of use. Further, Sophia Systems will bear no responsibility for software modified by the user.

Article 4 (Maintaining Confidentiality)

The user shall maintain confidentiality for all information regarding Sandgate VP Linux and shall make no disclosures or information leaks to third parties.

Article 5 (Warranty)

The provision of Sandgate VP Linux to the user by Sophia Systems is not a warranty against infringement of the rights of a third party. Except as prescribed by this agreement, Sophia Systems makes no express or implied warranty regarding Sandgate VP Linux.

Article 6 (Liability Indemnity)

Sophia Systems shall bear no responsibility regarding damages (including but not limited to lost earnings, interruption of business, loss of business information, and other monetary damages) due to the usage or inability to use Sandgate VP Linux.

- END -